WHOLE NUMBER 1178

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Clara Pieratt was buried at Mt Sterling, Tuesday morning, April 24. She is survived by her two worthy sons, Dorsey and Hane, and her husband, Asa B. Pieratt, who was elected to the Legislature from Morgan and moved to Mt Sterling and was elected there.

The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Mort Pieratt and Mrs. Hane Pieratt, both of whose husbands served in the Kentucky Senate. She was also a sister of Judge Greenbury Swango one time Register of the Land Office of Kentucky and a Confederate soldier of courage and distinction. Her nephew, Steve Pieratt, is president of Mt Sterling National Bank and a member of the Legislature from Meigs and Montgomery counties.

She was a woman of fine social tact; widely known for her unflinching hospitality; universally admired for her exemplary life; and loved because of her sweet Christian character.

She will be greatly missed at the Pieratt family reunion, an annual gathering of large proportions at Ezel, where she found much pleasure and delight in entertaining and being entertained. She liked Ezel, where her young married life was spent. She knew everyone there and Ezel returned the compliment.

Like unto the strong women of the Scriptures, an appropriate tribute would require a defter touch than mine.

With bowed head uncovered; with hesitation and reverence, asking that I, as friend and kinsman, be permitted to participate in the sorrow of the little circle which she has left bereft. I fling this flower on her newly made grave which, for one like her, is the open door to the rosy dawn of eternal morning.

BANK DEPOSITS INSURANCE

Washington, April 24 (AP)—A virtual agreement between President Roosevelt and senators drafting permanent banking legislation apparently prepared the way today for enactment of a bill at this session providing for insurance of deposits.

Differences of opinion which had appeared at times almost insurmountable were largely removed at an hour's White House conference between the chief executive and members of the senate banking subcommittee drafting bank reform legislation.

The President suggested several modifications in the committee's plan for setting up a two million dollar fund to insure deposits in federal reserve banks, but his proposals would not drastically change the project and were satisfactory to the senators.

One of them would limit the 100 per cent insurance of deposits to accounts of $100,000 and less, with partial insurance for larger deposits.

Differing with the committee, the President recommended that Branch banking be restricted to county limits, but this conflict did not appear in the committee indicated they would stick by their plan of permitting state-wide branch banking in states which allow their state banks that practice.

Chairman Glass and members of the committee were elated over the results of the conference and one member said there were now 10 chances for the bill where there was one before the White House visit.

Calm Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowland Cain, of Burning Fork, entertained as dinner guests Sunday, April 23, Mrs. Lydia D. Cecil and little daughter Jessie and niece Crystal Nickel, of Morgan county, who are at Salyersville for school purposes. Mrs. Cain takes great delight in preparing dainty dishes and there seemed nothing lacking that would make a very appetizing dinner.

The fragrance of apple blossoms that floated into the dining room helped to make the occasion one to be long remembered. Mrs. Cecil expressed her appreciation for the well spent day and was ready to depart late in the afternoon, but as there was yet plenty of dressed chicken, boiled ham, angel food cake, fruits, vegetables, salad and dessert, Mrs. Cain insisted that they also have supper. A New Deal for Kentucky

In a speech at Owensboro on April 24 to western Kentucky retail merchants Congressman John Young Brown made an eloquent plea for "A New Deal" for Kentucky. Mr. Brown presented arguments and proofs that for many years our state has been run by political chicanery for the benefit of political tricksters and to the detriment of the best interests of the taxpayers.

His speech was directed principally against the general retail sales tax which the last legislature tried to force upon the people of the state and which it is expected Governor Laffoon will again urge upon the legislature which is to be elected this year and which will meet in January of next year.

The sales tax which it is proposed to enact is estimated to yield a gross revenue of between $9,000,000 and $14,000,000, and the Governor claims that this tax is to be collected at a cost to the State of not to exceed $30,000. There are approximately 27,000 merchants in the State who would have to pay this tax and they in turn collect from every person (and every item) to whom he made a sale.

Mr. Brown then goes on to show that to collect the automobile license fees from the 120 county clerks the State paid last year $155,554.80. It cost the State last year $40,858.43 to collect the gasoline taxes which are paid by a few (possibly 15 or 20) big concerns. When the tax was imposed on the chain stores in 1930 it was proposed by those who sponsored it that one half of it should go toward paying of the State debt. But again political jobs were of greater concern. To collect $218,645.22 from the chain stores last year cost the State of Kentucky $89,013.85. Go over these figures again and see whether they carry any assurance of sincerity for the claim that $9,000,000 to be collected from 27,000 merchants would cost the State $30,000.

The following words are direct quotations from Mr. Brown's speech: "We have seen the beginning of a new deal for the Nation, and if Kentucky would keep pace with the leadership of Roosevelt in the Nation, she must catch the spirit of the new deal and transplant it here in Kentucky in our State Government. In order to understand the need for a new deal let us take a panoramic glance at Kentucky's history for the last few years.

"Instead of our State Government being operated as a business enterprise on behalf of the citizens of our State, instead of public money being considered a public trust, the State has been a prey to political corruption, and tax money has been spilled in the hands of those who spend it. Instead of economy of government, we have had extravagance until today we find ourselves saddled with a warrant indebtedness of $14,000,000 and faced with an attempt on the part of the present Administration to place on the shoulders of Kentucky's people an additional tax burden of from nine to fourteen million dollars. Special interests and political corruptionists literally sell the State on the auction block to the highest bidder and apportion out the offices of public trust as patronage to the favorites who do their bidding.

"The taxpayers have been ignored. They have been the victims of those who plunder and loot. Year after year new taxes have been devised with no thought of the ability of the public to pay, and the only idea of balancing the budget has been by levying new taxes. Even the textbooks of our children were made the prey to the greed of those who sat in on the deal, where with marked cards contracts of State were given to the favored few. Prison farms were contracted for and epileptic colonies placed where profit would come to friends of those clothed in State authority who sat as the guardians of the public welfare and betrayed their trust. The State is the supervisor of our banking situation and the history of the past has been that weak members in our banking system have been under the old set-up the prey of the vandals and the Golbs, to such an extent that whenever an SOS goes out that a bank is going down, the political parasites swoop down on the Banking Department, and when the smoke of battle clears away, the poor, defenseless institution finds itself looted and plundered by political vultures.

"The present set-up in Kentucky is not in accord with the new deal in the Nation. The new deal calls for government for the benefit of those who are governed. The old deal calls for government administered for the benefit of the special few who do the organizing and for those who do the governing. If Kentucky would keep pace with the Nation and with Roosevelt's leadership, she must arouse herself and throw off the shackles of political corruption. She must organize her State government for the benefit of the taxpayers and not for the general public and not for the exclusive benefit of a few concerns that sit in and reap the benefits of government. Her citizenship must demand that instead of thinking continually of new taxes, waste and extravagance must be eliminated and the budget balanced by cutting the garment of government to suit the cloth. Those in power will say that this cannot be done, but Roosevelt has demonstrated in the Nation that it can be done, and under his leadership the Nation has put its house in order. If Kentucky would keep pace with the new deal in the Nation, she should immediately set about a programme which would effect a new deal in Kentucky.

"Three elements enter into the great fight of the past, whether on the field of battle or in the legislative halls, and these three elements are time, place and men, and today every one of these essential elements is her with us.

"Under the inspiration of the movement started by the President of the United States in the Nation, no more propitious time could be asked. Never more appropriate than now is the shrewd observation of Shakespeare in his play, 'Julius Caesar,' when he said, 'There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune, omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and miseries. On such a full sea we are now afloat, and we must take the current when it serves or lose our ventures.'

"The taxpayers and the citizens of Kentucky who desire good government have reached the time in the history of our State when the currents of public opinion in the Nation offers to aid them in their fight toward the goal of good government. We are inflamed on a sea of national enthusiasm generated by the dynamic leadership of President Roosevelt, which will aid Kentucky if a vigilant citizenship arouses itself to demand good government. If we sleep now and fail to take the current when it serves our voyage of government will end in shallows and in miseries. The time is ripe, and the people are imbued with the proper spirit. Their minds are inflamed with the courage and action inspired by their great national leader. Political corruptionists in the Nation have been put to rout by Roosevelt. If you will catch Roosevelt's spirit, you can forever ban them from our temples of government.

"The place or the scene for the battle is the next Legislature for under the Constitution of Kentucky only the Legislature can write the proper laws to bring about reforms in government. Your legislative branch can reorganize your State government. It can drive out those who have thus far desecrated the channels of State government. If you fail to direct your efforts to selecting the State Legislature as the place for the beginning of your new deal in government, you will have failed in one of the essentials necessary for victory.

"The third element required is men, and you constitute that third essential. You are the taxpayers of the State. You are the leaders in civic enterprise. You are the leaders in your churches and your schools, and why should you not also be the leaders in your government?

"The three elements necessary for victory are in your hands. If you fail to use them, the generations of the future should rise up to curse you for your failure to do for them what it is now your simple duty to do. The task is yours. The responsibility is yours. The reward will be Kentucky's.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt has met the challenge of the new deal in the Nation, will Kentucky rise to the occasion and meet the challenge of a new deal for Kentucky? The answer to that question rests with you. The time for watchful waiting is past. The hour for courage and action has arrived. You are the instruments of a new deal for Kentucky. If you have the courage to fight and the will to

Losing by Lending

Under the above caption an exchange prints what has become the rule in all well conducted newspaper offices. There are still newspapers who defy good business practice and the United States postal regulations but their kind is getting less every day. The quotation follows:

"We ask no credit and we rebel at giving credit. Our advertising collections have caused us no worry and our circulation business has for four years been on a cash basis.

It has been said that if you wish to lose a friend, lend him money. I have reason to believe this. If you wish to lose the esteem of your customers, give them indiscriminate credit.

Game and Fish Club to Meet

The Morgan County Game and Fish Club will have a special business meeting at the American Legion Hall at 7:30 P. M. on Saturday, April 29. All members should attend. Everybody interested in the preservation and proper care of wild life is cordially invited to the meeting.

work, through you Kentucky can have a new deal.

"If you would have good government you must fight for it. Eternal vigilance has been said to be the price of liberty, and it is also the price of good government. If you would control your Government, you must fight and work for it, and when you have done this, you must then demand no reward except such as is consistent with equity and such as is granted to every other citizen of the Commonwealth. On no other basis can a democracy endure or can people prosper except one of equal and exact justice to all and special privilege to none. This is the spirit of a new deal. It is worthy of your support. It needs your encouragement. It will give you inspiration for the fight. It is the hope of Kentucky. It will spell the doom of special privileged government. If you believe in good government for Kentucky, catch the spirit of the new deal and elect to the next Legislature men who will go to Frankfort believing in a new deal in government and determined there to give representation and a voice to the people instead of special privilege."

To The Voters of Morgan County:

Because of solicitations from my friends, and because I want to be of service to my county, I have decided to make the race for Jailer.

I came to Morgan County an orphan 13 years of age and had the good fortune to be cared for and brought up in the good homes of Flem Testerman, James H. Castle and Jim Tom Wells.

During the World War I voluntarily enlisted at the age of 17 and served three years and nine months, eighteen months of which was overseas service. After receiving an honorable discharge from the army, I returned to Morgan county where shortly afterwards I married Barbara Stacy, the daughter of Johnnie Stacy, and have ever since been a citizen and resident of Morgan county. I own property on Stacy Fork of Caney, where I now live.

I feel that I am capable of performing the duties of the office of Jailer, and if the people of Morgan county entrust that office to me I pledge myself to perform those duties in a capable, efficient and honest manner. I feel that economy in all forms of government and in all offices is very essential under our present conditions and I stand ready to submit to the demands of the people on the question of salary and fees for this office.

If elected I pledge myself to keep the jail, the courthouse and all public property in a clean and sanitary condition. I will feed the prisoners well and see that they are properly taken care of while in my custody. I feel that some changes should be made in the methods of caring for prisoners, and if elected I would make these changes, without any additional expense to the county, that would make the sanitary conditions of the jail much better.

I will greatly appreciate your support and will in return for it endeavor to perform every duty of the office.

PLAYS INAUGURAL GAME

West Liberty's Ball Club will open the season at West Liberty with a game Sunday, April 30, with Hazel Green. This will be the first of twenty eight games to be played as a regular schedule in the Kentucky-Red River League.

We interviewed Manager Bowles last night but he would not commit himself as to the prospects for winning. He said, "The team is coming along fine considering the amount of practice the weather has allowed us, but at the same time our opponents have had no better chance for practice. This is our first game and I don't know what the boys will do under fire, but I am well pleased with the spirit that they have shown so far. I have not received the complete schedule as yet but I will be able to give that in a few days. The important thing just now is to win the first game and start the season off right. The official team will not be permanently selected until after May 12 so anybody that wishes to try out for one of the fifteen places will still have a chance to do so. The team practices on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon, and I would like to see a lot more of the out-of-town boys come in."

Don't forget next Sunday, April 30, at 1:30 o'clock, at West Liberty. Come out and support the team in its first game and enjoy yourself. There will be a small admittance fee of course, to help defray the traveling expenses of the team, but it is your team and is well worth supporting. Come on, let's show the boys that we are all behind them.

About The Farm

Painting is the cheapest way to keep buildings in good condition. Lack of protection against weather and fungi growth causes decay. Moisture enters the pores of unpainted wood, resulting in swelling and shrinkage. This weakens the fibers and results in fissures in which bacteria and fungi develop and cause the wood to rot.

It is well to roll the lawn several times, begin in spring as soon as the ground is dry enough to prevent the roller from sinking, and repeat frequently until the middle of the summer. Use a hand roller weighing at least 250 pounds for small lawns and a farm roller for large areas.

Good market eggs are large, weighing 24 to 26 ounces to the dozen. They are egg shaped, uniform in size, strong shelled, clean and infertile. Such eggs are produced only by properly fed hens. Eggs should be marketed at least once a week.

Pure, clean water is absolutely essential for profitable livestock production. Dirty ponds often are the medium by which infections and worm infestations are carried. For this reason care should be taken to supply drinking water in such a way that hogs cannot wallow in it.

Potatoes should not be killed, for a ridge rolls them of moisture. They should not be worked so closely or so deeply that the roots are touched. In fact, a light but thorough stirring should be given to discourage small weeds. Tramped middles sometimes need breaking up, but this should be done immediately after planting.

Sweet Clover Wilt

A wilt of sweet clover has been found in Fleming and Grant counties that is destroying second-year clover at a rapid rate. Dr. W. D. Valleau, plant pathologist at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky, says that it probably is the disease that has caused a rapid falling off in the sowing of sweet clover in northern Kentucky in the last few years.

Farmers who sowed sweet clover in the spring of 1932 have been asked by Dr. Valleau to examine their fields and to send to him dying plants, including the roots. They also should send a statement about the condition of the field.

Since the disease is often so serious that it wipes out stands of clover in a few days, farmers should assist in its study, in order to save a crop which has proved valuable in the limestone hills of northern Kentucky.

Strawberry Crop

Lexington, Ky., April—Kentucky has prospects for a good strawberry crop, says a statement from the department of markets at the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. Barring unseasonable weather, 1,300 carloads are expected to be shipped from the commercial producing regions of the state between May 10 and June 10. Yields will be good and quality high, present prospects indicate.

"The estimated 1933 acreage of strawberries in Kentucky totals 8,500 acres, a 50 percent increase over the 5,700 acres picked last year," says the statement. "Most of the increase is in the Purchase section, where about 6,000 acres are to be harvested this year. Individual plants look good at this time, but the stand is poor in many of the new fields and so the average yield will most likely be much reduced from the high average of 84 crates obtained in that section last year. There has been no freeze damage so far and the seasonable weather has kept the plants from blooming too early.

"About 220 carloads of berries are expected to move from points in Warren county, one of the oldest strawberry sections in the state. The crop will be about 60 percent of the Aromia variety, with Blakemores and Premiers making up the rest. Nearly 100 acres of berries are expected to move from Franklin, where about 75 percent of the acreage is of the Aromia variety.

"The movement of berries from Beaver Dam in Ohio county may be 70 carloads, as compared with 30 shipped out last year. This is one of the new strawberry sections in Kentucky and growers are showing much interest in their new cash crop. Another new strawberry region has been established in Lincoln and Pulaski counties, and here the second year of shipping strawberries is expected to add many hundred dollars to the income of the community. Only about seven carloads of berries were marketed last year but better yields from a larger acreage are anticipated this year.

"Competition will be greater in the strawberry markets than for many years because of the increased acreage to be picked in other states where berries ripen at the same time the Kentucky crop is being sold. In Tennessee the increase is about 20 percent over a year ago, with most of the new acreage located in the western strawberry section. About 1,800 cars of berries are expected to constitute the Tennessee movement which will begin about May 1 with Kentucky berries, followed by Pennsylvania and later by Aromia.

"Over 20,000 acres of berries will be harvested this year, and the movement will total 1,800 carloads. A severe drought last summer caused thin stands, particularly in the new fields, and so the crop is not expected to be much larger than last year even though acreage was increased one-fifth. The same condition prevails in Missouri, and a smaller crop is expected because the acreage is slightly smaller than the 15,000 acres harvested last year. The movement from Arkansas is expected to open about April 20 and Missouri shipments will get under way by May 15."

THE TUBERCULIN TEST

Monday morning, May 15, State and Federal veterinarians start tuberculin testing all cattle, except steers, in our county. In every neighborhood a place has been selected where the people in that community are to bring their cattle for the tuberculin tests. These places have been notified of the exact day and time the doctor will be there. If you do not know the place in your neighborhood where the cattle will be tuberculin tested, inquire of your magistrates they have a complete schedule of the entire county. Every one is requested to have their cattle at the designated places at the time specified in order not to delay the doctors, as they have the entire county to complete in one week.

Just a reminder—there is no charge for the tuberculin tests. The test is absolutely harmless. All neat cattle, except steers, are tested. If an animal is found infected with tuberculosis, it is appraised and the State and Federal Governments pay owners their share of appraisal and destroy infected animals. You cannot tell by looking at a cow whether or not it has tuberculosis, only the test will show.

Always bear in mind one cow with tuberculosis will in time give the disease to other cattle and may infect a member of one's family.

Your magistrates have the schedules for this great work. Next week this newspaper will publish schedules for the entire county.

TAXATION

The different kinds of tax that any individual may be required to pay varies from a few to twenty or twenty-five. Farmers as a rule are subject to four or five. In Morgan county they have a county school tax, 60 cents; a county tax, 50 cents; a state tax, 30 cents; a county poll tax, $1.50; a county school poll tax, $1.00; and a road bond tax, 20 cents, making a total property tax of $1.65 for every one hundred dollars worth of property he is assessed and a total poll tax of $2.50.

If a person lives in a town or city there are various other taxes, such as streets, occupations, license etc. The taxes we pay to the government are usually indirect, such as a government tax of one cent per gallon on gasoline, tax on tobacco, and now on beer, etc.

The total amount of property in Morgan county as equalized is approximately three and one half millions of dollars. This is only about two thirds of what it was a few years ago.

There are approximately 2500 poll tax payers in the county.

If we estimate in round numbers the amount of tax that each of the disarming agencies receive and spend we have, for the schools about $25,000; for the fiscal court about $30,000, including the road fund for payment of bonds. These are only approximately as it might be three or four thousand difference either way depending upon delinquencies and a change in assessment each year.

The question naturally arises, why pay taxes, what are they spent for, or why have the rate as it is, and who fixes the rate that the taxpayers have to pay? The county board of education fixes the rate for the schools. They prepare a budget in advance for what they estimate is necessary to maintain 126 school rooms in 96 schools. One-half of all county school taxes go to pay the salaries of teachers, the remainder of teachers salaries comes from the State.

This leaves the board of education and the county superintendent in matters about $12,000 for all other purposes. First, they must provide coal for 126 school rooms, or if we allow 75 bushels for each school, it will take nearly 10,000 bushels of coal and this estimate is probably too low, one bushel for each 126 bushels, one bucket for each, 126 buckets. There are 5000 desks in all the schools. If we estimate a desk to last 25 years, they would have to replace an average of 200 each year to say nothing of those that happen to burn. If we estimate a roof to last 15 years, there would be an average of six to recover each year. If we estimate a building to last 45 years, there would be an average of 2 new buildings each year. If each building should be painted only once in fifteen years, it would require a board to paint 8 buildings each year.

There is also the salary of the county superintendent and the board of education and any other assistance they may have must be paid out of the $12,000. There are many other necessary items of expense, such as wells window panes and chalk.

The financial affairs of the board of education have always been well managed. Their debts have always been paid and their checks or warrants have always been 100 per cent. They have never been sold at a discount and there has never been any speculation in their claims. They now have an approximate indebtedness of about the same as the uncollected taxes, which has largely been brought about by unpaid taxes or delinquent taxes and which represents mostly unpaid salaries to teachers, which will be paid when these taxes are collected. These conditions speak well for the county superintendent and board of education. Every inspection report made by the state inspector commends most highly the school affairs.

The schools are your greatest assets and deserve your cooperation and support and in this period of retrenchment.

There are some questions to consider. When we find facts before us, whether we like or dislike them, we should deal with them for the general good. Answers should be according to calm judgment. No question is insoluble to Americans when truth and justice press home to them. Would you do away with the public school, or would you lower its efficiency? Do you want better teachers or poorer ones? Do you want shorter terms of school? Do you want your children to have less education than they are getting? Would you do away with some schools? Are you in favor of doing away with your own school? Do you believe that a nation is best upon whose values and hills free schools exist? Do you believe in building up within a nation's basins intelligent manhood and womanhood. I am submitting facts and conditions and leave it to you to draw your own conclusions.

COLLECTING THE SALES TAX

According to the State Inspector and Examiner, over forty per cent of the revenue from the State gross sales tax was consumed by the gross sales tax department of the State Tax Commission in administering the law during the first twenty-seven months of its existence.

The total receipts from January 1, 1931, to April 1, 1933, amounted to $218,445.22. The cost of administering the law was $80, 013.85, leaving an excess of receipts over expenditures of $129,631.37.

Adopted by the 1930 General Assembly, the act provided that one-half of the receipts should go to the State penal and charitable institutions and that the other half to pay off the State debt.

It is interesting to recall when this measure was pending before the legislature that State officials predicted it would bring between $1,000,000 and $1,250,000 annually into the State treasury and they estimated it would discharge the State debt within twenty years.—Shelby News.

This is a sample of the manner in which the business of the State and its taxpayers is conducted at Frankfort. If it were a private business managed this way, it would be in the hands of the receiver in one month's operation, and not a man connected with it could ever get another job.

But because it is public business nothing can be done about it until the next election, and perhaps nothing will be done then. The people will remember that Morrow succeeded Stanley, Sampson succeeded Fields and then Laffoon, who was between the plow handles as a small boy on the farm when he first felt the ambition to become governor, and who was going to pay off the State debt in his term.

President Roosevelt is making an honest and effective effort to balance the budget at Washington. If Gov. Laffoon is making any effort at Frankfort it is not apparent. Certainly his efforts are not very effective, else he would not permit $80,000 of the taxpayers' money to be expended in the collection of $215,000 in taxes.—Elizabethtown News.

THE GENTLE ARE THE BRAVE

This is "Be Kind to Animals Week" in the United States. Gentleness gives strength to civilization, and mercy to dumb creatures marks humanity.

For long, mankind gave scant heed to the mute pleading of the heartless strata of creation. Then, just a short century ago, the first association in the world for the defense of animals was formed, in the face of violent opposition, through the efforts of Richard Martin, a member of the British Parliament. Now bands of mercy girdle the world, and through their untiring ministrations the lot of animals grows ever brighter and happier.

In America from April 17 to April 23 daily radio programs under the auspices of the American Humane Educational Society are being given, describing the work of many organizations in promoting kindness to animals. Governors in many states are issuing proclamations urging wide observance of this annual "Be Kind to Animals Week." School children throughout the land are being taught through precept and practice that the gentle are the brave.

Much remains to be accomplished. There are still pack mules staggering painfully over the Andes whose existence is one long misery; the tourist's sensibilities are badly torn by the callous cruelty to beasts of burden in some parts of southern Europe. Poodles still become blind in the darkness of coal mines in which they are sentenced to life-long imprisonment. Harsh cruelty is still too often the dreary portion of animals trained for show purposes.

But, with one exception, the civilization does recognize more and more the rights of those who cannot speak for themselves. That exception is the vivisectionist. "Be kind to us" still echoes to the skies from uncounted victims tortured in the name of immunity.

College Will Move

"The editor of this paper has received a letter from Dr. Bob Jones, the founder and president of the International, coeducational, orthodox, Bob Jones College, whose articles appear weekly in this paper, saying that the Board of Trustees of the Bob Jones College have voted to accept the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland, Tennessee, to move the Bob Jones College to Cleveland next fall. The Bob Jones College will move into the beautiful buildings formerly occupied by Centenary College. The College will open on September 6. Dr. Jones says, "Our students in the Bob Jones College come from all parts of the world. College Point, Florida, is rather inaccessible. We are moving to Cleveland, Tennessee, where we will be more accessible to our constituency." The college will have headquarters in Cleveland, Tennessee, after June 1."

WEDDING BELLS

Two prominent families of our county were united when Miss Dorothy, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Stacy of West Liberty, was wedded to James, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Perry of Lenox, on Sunday.

In the beautiful home of the bride's parents and in the presence of the parents of both parties, the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Stacy, a number of other relatives, Rev. and Mrs. Harlan Murphy and about twenty of the young friends of the bridal pair, the ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Murphy at 2:00 o'clock P. M. The groom was elegantly dressed in blue serge and the bride was beautiful in her dainty costume of orchid silk.

The bride is a junior in the Morgan County High School and has a wide circle of friends.

The groom is a graduate of the same school and a student of the Morehead State Normal and is liked by all who know him.

The bride accompanied her husband to his school Sunday, but has returned for the closing of school.

The young couple have a bright future before them and a host of friends of the two families wish them a full measure of joy, prosperity in their undertakings and a useful life together and to the community.

BOB JONES COMMENTS

I stood on the steps of a Museum in the city of Cairo, Egypt. My guide was an intelligent Mohammedan. He said to me, "Doctor, before you leave the city I should like to take you into a museum and show statues that will tell you the story of Egyptian depravity of thousands of years ago." I replied, "I do not wish to see those statues of perversity. I've been to Rome, and in the midst of the crumbled ruins of that civilization there were statues of perversity. I have been to Athens, and in the midst of the wreck and ruin of Athenian culture there were statues of perversity. This city of Cairo is built upon the ruins of other cities whose inhabitants were so wicked that God wouldn't let them live." Then, I thought of America. On the walls of public buildings in this country you will find the same statues of perversity and the same pictures of depravity that you will find among the ruins of nations that God destroyed.

God is under no obligation to America. A nation has no right to live unless it lives right. The dust of the centuries blows over the bones of dead nations who lived like we have begun to live.

America has done in a few years what it has taken other nations centuries to do. America has put a big percentage of her population in the cities. We have in these cities some of the same elements of degeneracy and decay which wrecked Rome and destroyed Greece and sent to hell other nations who at one time were powerful.

"The plowing of the wicked is sin." I was surprised to find that statement in the Book of Proverbs. This means that even the legitimate work of a wicked man is sin. The reason is plain. A wicked man plows God's dirt. He cultivates God's soil. He depends upon God for sunshine and rain to make a crop, but he never stops to recognize God. He plows for himself. The sin of building the tower of Babel was the sin of the spirit of the people who built it. "Go to, let us build us a tower and a city" is what they said. They should have said, "Go to, let us build for God a tower and a city." And they built in that spirit the city would have stood. It is a sin to build a city without recognizing God. It is a sin to do legitimate business without having a God-consciousness.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

Rev. Christian J. Eek, who has been in our community for several weeks, has been requested to continue the splendid work he has been doing in this vicinity.

The series of evangelistic meetings will continue as well as the daily vacation Bible school which was held for the first under the leadership of Rev. Eek, who has had considerable experience in spirituals in the large cities. The big feature of these meetings "Knowing and Loving The Bible," "Value of Hymns in Worship," "Singing School," also Bible classes for all ages.

Marie Elam and Helen Taylor won distinctive awards for quoting the most verses of the Bible from memory. In the boys section, William Minor, aged 9 years, was highest in honorable award for attendance and scripture memorizing. The music is under the leadership of Rev. Eek, who is assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Peyton, Fulton Church pianist, also Mrs. Lillian Nickell and Mrs. Hillman. Those assisting in class functions were Mrs. J. D. Whiteaker and Hugh Minor Sunday school superintendent.

The Bible school is now being held in the Salts Church with all co-operating and a splendid attendance as well as a good interest being manifested. The evangelistic meetings are being attended by capacity crowds and it is hoped that Rev. Eek will consent to continue the work he is doing for souls and the spiritual uplift of humanity.—Cannel City.

BEER AND AUTOMOBILES

This year's record for automobile fatalities in Massachusetts is not encouraging. The total up to Friday of last week was 247 deaths, compared to 235 in the corresponding period of 1932. The increase is even more significant when it is recalled that registration and gasoline consumption figures are substantially below those of last year. In other words, a smaller number of cars on the road are killing a larger number of people, and this despite all the progress made in recent years in improving highways, eliminating danger points, and installing elaborate safety devices. More and more it becomes clear that automobiles, roads or weather rarely cause accidents. It is the person at the wheel who is almost always completely and exclusively to blame.

Now, to add to his chances of driving carelessly and indifferently, comes the legal sale of beer. To assume that few persons will operate a car after they have consumed this "non-intoxicating beverage" is, of course, expecting too much of human nature. On the contrary, many people will drive after drinking, and the dangers of the road will be increased to the extent that they think the public at large will tolerate indiscretions on their part. It is, therefore, important that police, judges, and juries should make them understand that nothing short of the most cautious driving will be endured.

If we begin by "making allowances" for beer drinkers, we shall probably see our weekly death list steadily mounting. To forestall such a tragedy it should be generally understood that in the event of an accident the drinking of beer will be considered as serious evidence against a motorist.—Boston Herald.

OBITUARY

Aboda A. Nickell was born in Morgan county, Kentucky, December 4, 1849, and departed this life Thursday, April 6, 1933, at the age of 83 years, 4 months and 2 days. She was married to M. W. Jones December 27, 1868, and to this union were born nine children.

She moved to Mountain Grove, Missouri from Kentucky about 1910, where she lived until the death of her husband, the late M. W. Jones.

She became a member of the Church of God at an early age and lived a devout Christian life until her death. She leaves to mourn her death one daughter, Mrs. J. C. Gose of Mountain View, Missouri, with whom she was making her home at the time of her death, four sons, A. C. Jones, Chantre, Kansas; E. B. Jones and D. D. Jones, Cornell Bluffs, Iowa; W. F. Jones, Salt Lick, Kentucky; and a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren. Two sons and two daughters preceded her in death.

She was a loving companion, a devoted mother, and a kind and considerate friend and she will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

ABOUT PRIMARIES

In the Democrat last week appeared an editorial from the Murray Ledger & Times dealing with the primary and convention methods of selecting party candidates.

The Democrat has consistently opposed conventions and if it had not the force which placed the present administration in office would have changed it in favor of the primary method.

The ticket was made up "geographically" perfect according to those who named it but somehow or other the boundaries did not extend beyond the confines of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee. Many of the present state officials and a large number of the appointive office holders were members of the last state committee or had relatives on it. That is government by the few for the benefit of the few. It is not in the least Democratic, and not sanctioned by any true Democrat.

Aspirants for representative and senatorial offices should be pledged to vote for a compulsory primary law. Hope of good government is dissipated if control of elections is left for its own interests.—Cynthiana Democrat.

UNCLE SAM'S MONEY

If I know, the Ancient, know what he was talking about when he wrote that "gold will be slave or master" the World is due to find out whether the United States is to continue to be slave to gold while France and her own leaders are cornering the yellow metal, or whether we are masters of our financial destinies.

Mrs. people were quick to correct that they "didn't understand" all this "inflation" talk is about. Luckily few have yet comprehended the intricate subject of money, since the wisest of statesmen have been guessing wrong most of the time for the past three years.

Way back in 1896 the partition gold won over the hesitating Republican party with the help of William McKinley, presidential nominee, who told the platform makers to declare in favor of a single standard of money.

Bryan on the Democratic ticket went down to his first defeat with his famous battlecry: "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not cruelly maul upon a cross of gold." He was for the white metal, since that he bet on the wrong colors.

Evidently gold has been a trouble more than a necessity during most of these long years, and it is not surprising that so many public men have been converted to the arguments of the silver producing States.

Let us hope that the present administration and its advisors really do "understand" the intricacies of the situation, and that Uncle Sam's money will continue to be worth full face values.

Anyhow, most citizens of the United States are sticking by their Chief in the White House and betting on the success of the "new deal."

College Degree Worth

$100,000, Experts Find
Statisticians and research investigators have at last run down the elusive and much discussed dollar cents value of a college education and have fixed it at $100,000. Their survey reveals that the average untrained boy goes to work at the age of 14, earns less than $1,700 a year, so that his income from 14 to 60 totals $64,000. The high school graduate, they find, starts work at 18, reaches his maximum income of $2,800 at 50 and by 60 has earned a total of $88,000. The college graduate, they learned, starts his career at about 22, has caught up with the high school graduate by 30 and at 60 is earning from $6,000 to $8,000 a year with a total earning over 60 of between $100,000 and $200,000. Figures from the same survey produced by the statistical department of Union Central Life Insurance Company show that out of 1,000 children entering grade school only 23 graduates from college. Lack of funds is revealed as the main reason for leaving school and educational insurance is now advocated as a means of giving a higher percentage the "break" which a college degree assures.

The entire community was deeply grieved to learn of the death of Eva E. Waller which occurred at the St. Joseph Hospital, at Lexington, April 19. He was born June 7, 1908 and passed from this life at the age of 25 years of age, after an illness of only a few days. He was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Waller, both of whom survive him. He is survived also by five brothers, Graden, Carl, Andy, Ralph and Eugene all of Hazel Green and three sisters, Mrs. Hobart Nickell, Martin, Indiana, Mrs. Asa Motley, Ezel, and Frances Walter of Hazel Green. Eva graduated from Hazel Green Academy with the class of 1929 after which he taught in the Cannel City school, and it was with his earnings as a teacher that he was able to pursue a higher course of study in Lee's Junior College, Jackson and the Morehead State Teachers College where he would have completed a four year course in the summer session this year. That he was a dependable and a diligent student is indicated by the fact that he was assistant instructor in the Biology Department at Morehead. A number of years ago he joined the Student Volunteer Band and took the pledge for a life of Christian service. He was a member of the Junior Order of this place and also a member of the Christian church which he served faithfully and devotedly. Eva was very popular among his classmates and was held in high esteem by all who knew him and he was greatly missed in the home, on the campus and in the church. Funeral services were conducted in the Christian church with Rev. Highfield Boone Center and Henry A. Stovall officiating and interment was made in the family lot at this place.

"You cannot say, you must not say That he is dead. He is just away! With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land And left us dreaming. How very fair He is as was he since he leaves these. I think of him faring on as dear. In the love of There as the love is here. I think of him still as the same and say, He is not dead—he is just away."

Well, the time is about up for the candidates to announce and put forth their platforms, (if they have enough to stand on) so the voters can see what they advocate and choose between them at the primary. I think it is high time to elect a quorum of officers that will do their duty regardless of personal feelings.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning 'Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name "Carter's Little Liver Pills" on the red label. It's a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931, C. M. Co.
